Football

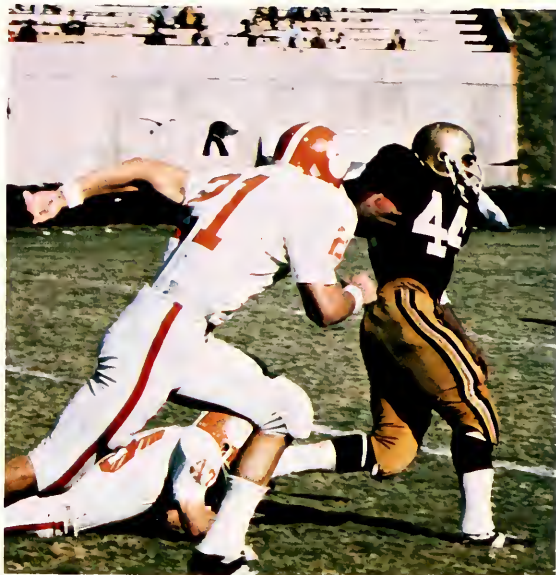

Once upon a time ...
 Predicted at the bottom of the ACC
 The Demon Deacons began their season
 Against top-ranked teams
 Fulfilling this prediction
 By losing their first three games
 To the powerful Nebraska Cornhuskers
 South Carolina's superior offense
 And the Florida State Seminoles.

The turning point of the season came When the Deacs began using The Veer offense exclusively
 And ran over Virginia 27-7.

The team —
 United by the winning philosophy
 Of Coach Stoll
 And tragedy amid victory —
 Dedicated itself
 To winning the ACC championship.

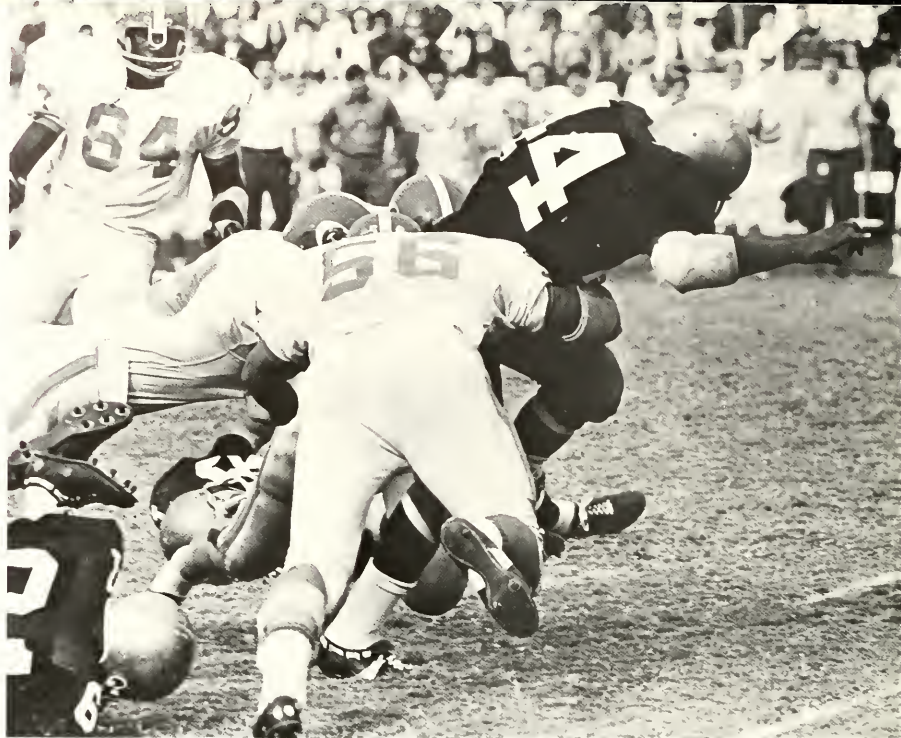

Homecoming 1970

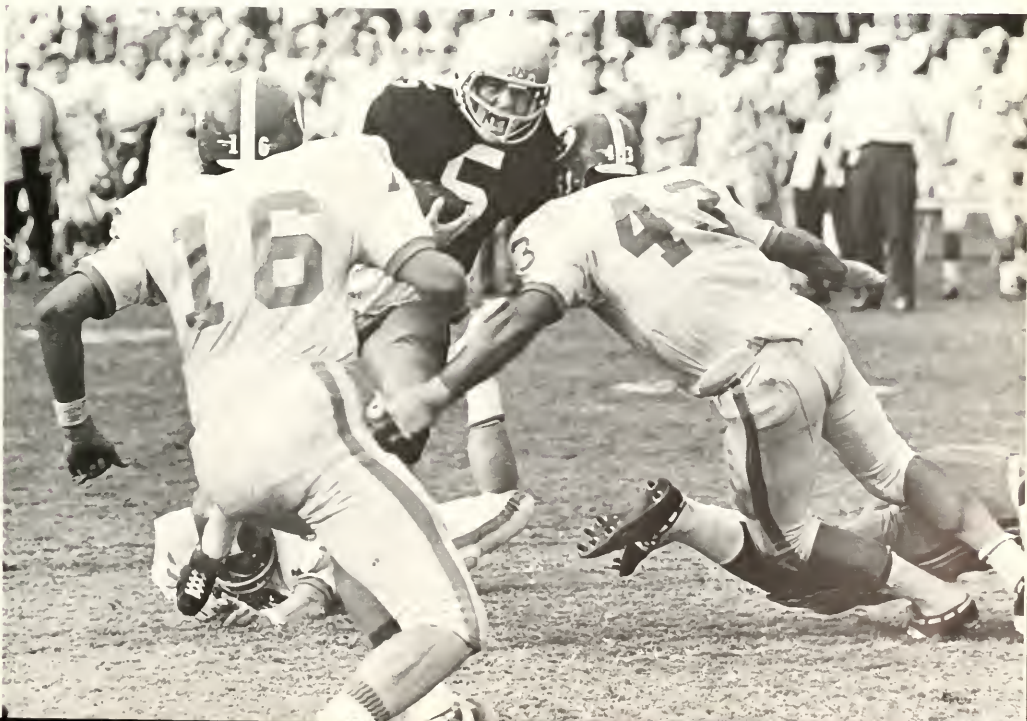

Betty Benton, Homecoming Queen

Larry Russell
Gutsy little quarterback
Scrambled and passed
Stunning Va Tech 28-9.

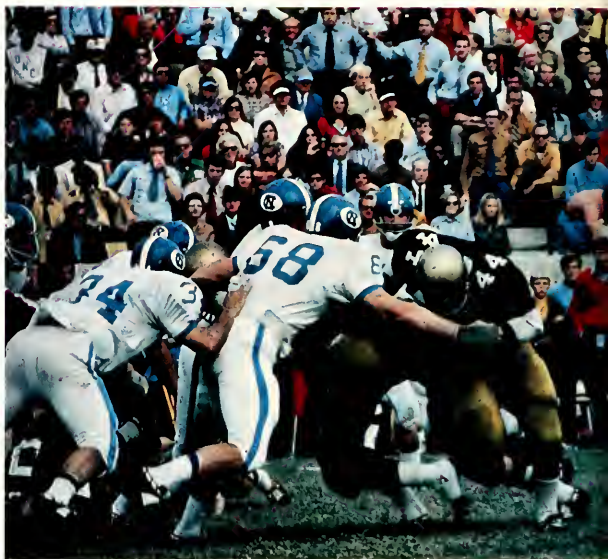

Fullback Larry Hopkins
Welcomed Clemson to Wake's Homecoming
By breaking an ACC record —
Rushing 230 yards in 20 carries —
And the Deacons humiliated the Tigers
By defeating them 36-20

Coach Stoll

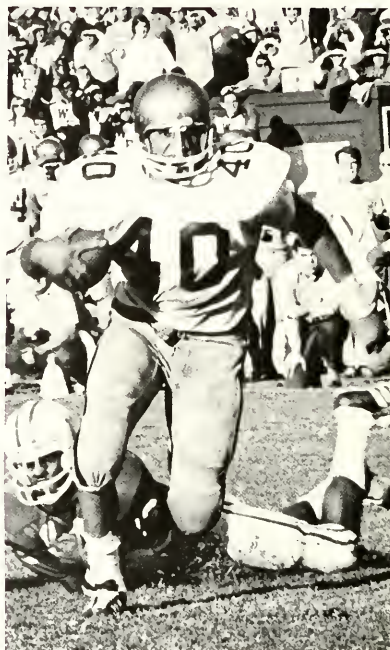

Don McCauley and Company
 Traveled to Big Gold Country
 Confident of victory
 But the determined Deacons held
 And a sustained 94 yard drive
 With only minutes remaining
 Tied the game.
 The most exciting win of the season
 As Tracy Lounsbury
 Kicked the extra point.
 A united Wake Forest
 Sent the Heels to Hell 14-13

Mismatched against consistently strong Tennessee
Wake Forest's four game winning streak was broken
Despite an outstanding performance
By All-American Win Headley
As they bowed to the Volunteers at Memphis

The perfect game 28-14
Russell executed the triple option
As the Deacs controlled the ball
To tie Duke's Blue Devils
For the number one spot
"The Veer was here"
To stay.

In the final ACC contest
 The Deacs met
 A surprisingly strong N C State.
 Ed Stetz blocked a crucial punt
 Made numerous tackles
 Forced fumbles
 To achieve national recognition.
 The previously stymied offense
 Came to life in the fourth quarter
 Pulling out a 16-13 victory

The Demon Deacons
Had done all they could Defeating 5 out of 6
Conference teams

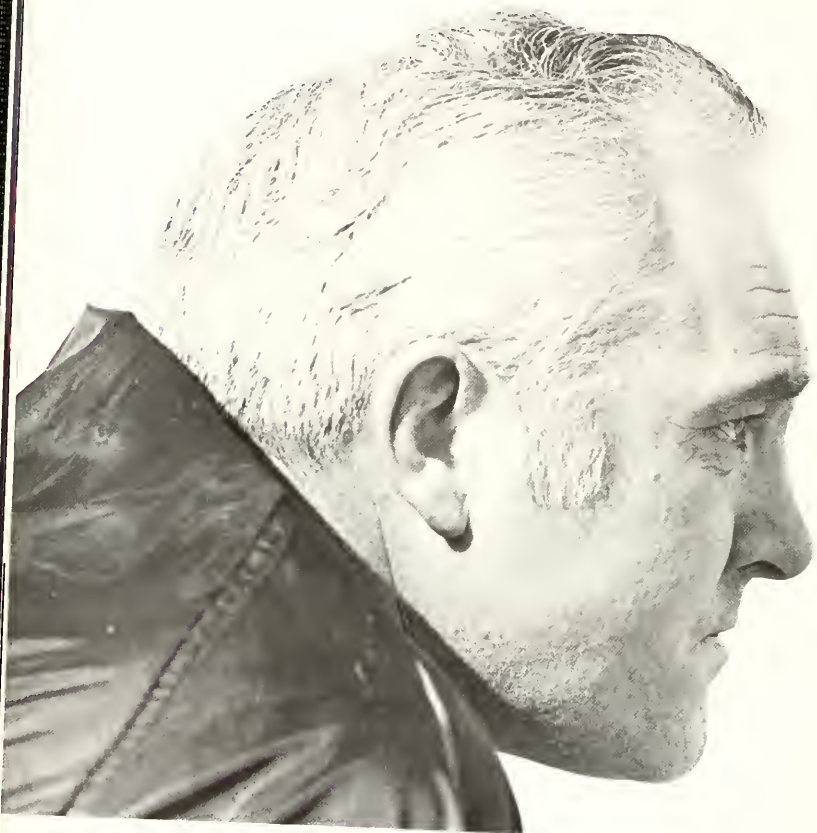

Traveling to the Astrodome
As the ACC champions
Veer met Veer
And Houston triumphed

But
 In the most surprising season ever
 The Demon Deacons were—
 For the first time—
 The Number One team
 In the Atlantic Coast Conference.
 And they all lived happily ever after

Basketball

With four returning seniors
 A unified and optimistic team
 The Demon Deacons began their season
 Against the unusually powerful Atlantic Coast Conference.
 Losing three of their first seven games
 By a total of only five points
 The Deacs bounced back
 With one of their most outstanding performances of the season
 To win the Gold Coast Classic
 By defeating nationally ranked Jacksonville 78-77.
 Although the team was never able To put together a long winning streak
 They avoided last year's string of demoralizing losses
 And maintained the spirit and consistent effort
 To make this a successful season.

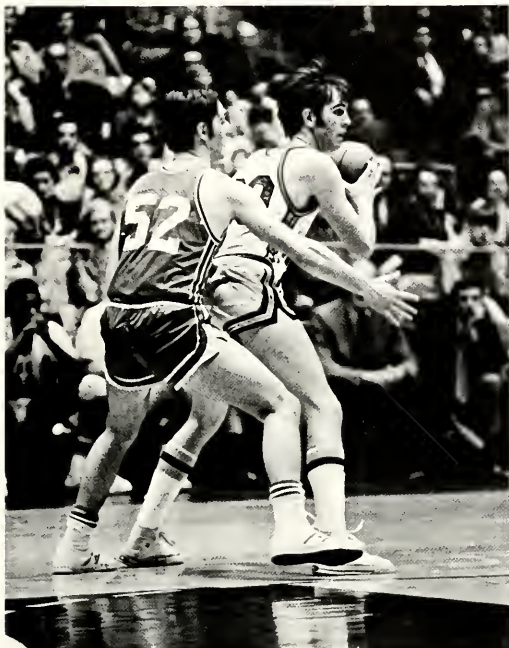

In Charlie Davis
 Wake Forest had one of their most outstanding
 And most exciting basketball players ever.
 Instrumental in creating both team spirit
 And Deacon spirit
 C.D. was "a rare talent
 And a completely unselfish individual
 Who has won the hearts of all Demon Deacon followers the world over."
 Averaging over 26 points a game
 And hitting almost 50 per cent of his shots
 C. D. exhibited true All-American credentials.
 On March 2, Wake Forest and Winston-Salem
 Acknowledged Charlie — the basketball player and the person —
 With a day of his own.
 In an emotional halftime ceremony
 No. 12 was retired —
 The third basketball jersey to be so honored
 In Wake's history
 C. D. will not be forgotten.

Though often playing in Charlie's shadow
 The contributions of Gil, Posey, and Neil Were essential to producing a winner
 Gilbert McGregor — 6'7" center —
 Carried the rebounding load for the Deacs
 Against often overwhelming odds.
 Vastly improved since his freshman year
 Gil learned to finesse
 As well as to overpower
 Coming into his own this season
 Bob Rhodes complemented C.D. to perfection.
 Matching his hard-nosed determination
 With an improved shooting-eye
 Posey hit a career high
 Of 31 points against the Blue Devils.
 Shaking off the injuries of previous seasons
 Neil Pastushok was vital to the Deacs
 As both a shooter and a rebounder.
 Neil displayed his uncanny ability from the outside
 By scoring 20 points
 In the Deac's 96-84 win over archival Carolina

Coaches McCloskey, Johnson, Noel

After an initial struggle
 For the fifth starting position
 Rich Habegger emerged
 As a pleasant surprise
 To Deacon fans
 Providing Gil with help on the boards
 With support from the bench
 These five
 Provided Jack McCloskey
 And the Demon Deacons
 With their third straight winning season.

ACC Tournament

Four years of CD
Gil, Posey, and Neil
Were finished
After the first round
Of the ACC tournament
As the Virginia Cavaliers
Triumphed in the last three seconds
Defeating Wake 85-84
It was an empty ending

Coach Haddock

A twenty-foot birdie putt and Lanny Wadkins clinched the world's most prestigious amateur tournament, the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

For Lanny it was his third major victory of the summer. Earlier he had won the Southern and Western titles. He was also runner-up in the NCAA, the ACC, the Porter Cup, and the Sunnehanna Tournament.

Selected as a member of the Eisenhower Cup team, he was instrumental in the winning of the championship at Madrid, Spain, this fall.

POWERS THAT BE

My coming to Wake Forest four years ago was an investment in terms of time, money, and expectations. I came to get a good education — one that would not just begin and end with the covers of a book. Looking back now with the perspective of a Senior, I know I came to the right school. I have found that Wake Forest, although a small denominational university, has a lot to offer.

The prevailing climate here is academic. I think that two basic factors are responsible for the emphasis on learning: quality and size. The professors are an extremely intelligent group, and the school attracts the best students. And unlike the mega-universities of our day, Wake Forest has preserved its unique and traditional student-professor relationship. I also sense that the general trend here is toward student self-expression as seen in the growing emphasis on independent study and seminars. Because of the advantage of its small size and high quality, Wake Forest has greater freedom to experiment academically, and I am encouraged to see it doing so. I have found that the ingredients for sound educational development are here. They need only to be grasped by the motivated students.

But in these four years, there has been time for other things too. Most schools our size have nowhere near the scope of Wake Forest. It is good that there is an emphasis here on athletics, particularly on intercollegiate sports. With the construction of Groves Stadium, the university has demonstrated that athletics will be a vital feature of its total education program. I am glad that Wake Forest made this decision, for athletics can serve the purposes of the school in many respects. I would have to say that the highlight of my college career was following the football team, game by game, to the first A.C.C. Football Championship in our history. In watching that team, all Wake Foresters learned something about struggle and success; in short, a lesson in life itself. This is the important function that sports serve.

The scope of Wake Forest extends beyond books and ballgames, however, to a wide range of student activities. By participating in and contributing to various organizations, the student is afforded the opportunity to round out his education. Probably the best preparation I have gained for success in life has been that of working on common problems with other people in the Student Government. I have also taken note of the campus' renewed emphasis on culture. There are the top quality concerts, art exhibits, lectures, and a film series rated No. 1 in the nation. Our theater facilities are probably as poor as those of any major college. I recognize, though, that this is because of a lack of funds for a new building, not because of indifference on the part of the university toward the development of the fine arts. Yet despite this handicap, the University Theater brings forth productions of professional quality to a receptive campus. The poor facilities are overshadowed by the interest, cooperation, and dedication of students and faculty alike. Such dedication, in all areas, is an essential tradition at Wake Forest.

But more than anything else, it is the people who make Wake Forest. I will long recall the Saturday afternoon games, the big weekends, the concert, and even the classes; but it is the friendship of this campus which has meant the most to me. The administration, the faculty, and the students have all made friendliness a well-known tradition at Wake Forest. Some say that college is merely training for life; at Wake, college is life itself. I will always feel a sense of satisfaction and pride when I tell someone that I went to school at Wake Forest. And I will be disappointed if the school fails to preserve her distinctive character and her traditions. I will be equally disappointed if she fails to build for the future on the solid foundations of her past that have made Wake Forest a university deserving of the appreciation and support of her students.

STC

The historical perspective that is immediately applied by an administrator to an evaluation of this institution by a student serves as an excuse for the present trustee inflicted stagnation that is optimistically dubbed — gradual change. The historical perspective simply means that the present state of affairs is judged acceptable when considering the past. Changes that are called experimental here are after the fact at the campuses that experimented with them five and ten years ago. The hope of complete change and an elevation of our anachronistic social and academic rules to the level of comparable institutions have completely vanished from students' minds. The trustees have successfully and permanently discouraged students with their infrequent, but dictatorial ultimatums shrouded in visions of moral responsibility and philanthropy. As a result of this consistent action by the trustees, the Wake Forest community, once held together by compulsory chapel, has finally dissolved and been replaced by splinter groups. Stagnation has set in because hope for change has vanished, and a life style has been established external to that which was once University oriented.

The actualization of potential and the conflict between academic and scholarly pursuits are closely related. The abundant professorial potential that adorns catalogues and brochures seldom materializes inside or outside of class. Too frequently professors fail to impart knowledge that they obviously have and students fail to demand the utmost from their profs. The "failure to communicate" results from student and faculty apathy. This University is preoccupied with academics, not scholasticism, and the dream of academic excellence descends on the faculty and then to the students by way of fear. Scholarly pursuit does not rise soul-like from academic preoccupation. Learning is sacrificed for grades too often, and neither the faculty, nor the students, benefit from their contact. The desire to learn is extinguished by the time a student has completed his freshman year.

In four years at the University it is very easy to never change. Students come here from middle class homes, better than average high school backgrounds, and with stable social attitudes. They leave with only mild adaptations. The University system perpetuates the status quo, and students' minds and attitudes are merely the products of osmosis. The emphasis is not on learning, but on maintaining satisfactory grades. Wake Forest is what you make it or what it makes you. The choice is up to the Student. The facilities are available to all students, but the motivation is self-established.

Challenge '71

Chris Barnes, Director

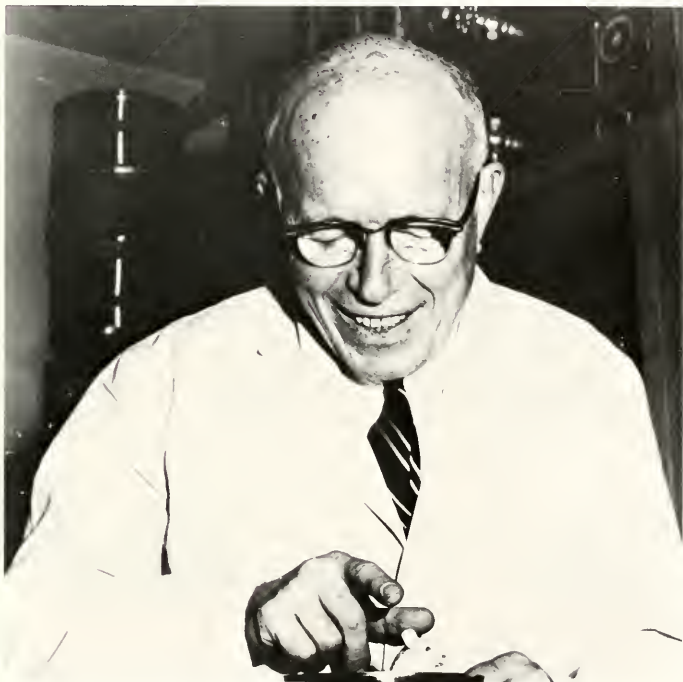

Charlie Hayes, Associate Director

The university, traditionally, has been the conscience of our society, pledged to prevent self complacency and stagnation, always providing new blood, new ideas, and new values which society has had to confront. The university, traditionally, has been the place where men come together in understanding and enlightenment, the place where men free themselves from prejudices and fears. But in recent years, the university has failed in these respects. Instead of bringing men together in common understanding, instead of freeing men of their fears and prejudices, it has divided them one against another in constant struggle for power or the "right."

Challenge '71 — the challenge of survival — can man survive?

The challenge of survival! not man apart, but man concerned. The challenge to re-evaluate his role in his environment. Today's technology has made this his last chance to try. Mankind has been put on the line to reexamine his values. Weapons, pollutants, racism and reproduction challenge him.

Unless man is able to change his ways, he will not survive.

Concerning the future dissolution of the WGA Proposed "that the Student Government take the responsibility for handling the legislative functions now performed by the WGA, for the judicial processes to be handled by the proposed Student Review Board, and that the women's dormitory functions be handled by a dormitory council. It is the intention of the present WGA to study extensively these ideas, and to dissolve only after the functions of our organization have been responsibly assumed by these or other organizations."

Theatre

Backstage is loneliness as each of us withdraws into himself to prepare himself There must be a mutual integration of the role and the player The task to become as much as possible the character
 I will portray, and yet to reserve a place in that individual into which I can infuse my own individuality
 The goal, emphatic union of cast and audience Then darkness, silence, movement of the curtain
 Success or failure remains
 And I hope

People's House

Blacks know what it means to deal with others. They are constantly facing situations that require them to need and seek the comfort, encouragement, friendship, and physical contact of their Black peers.

To be able to rely on other students for comfort, for relaxation, and for casual but meaningful contacts is an area that Blacks have not been cut short on, for they find these with each other. It's educational, too, because to know others, to laugh and talk with them is an integral part of our four-year intellectual encounter.

*The time has passed
Nothing can ever be the same
We can't go home again
Somehow our childhood fantasies
Have been lost along the way
Yet we dream on
Of what was
And is no more
Of what might have been
And never will be
The hope
Is that we shall never sink
Into such a deep sleep
That for one moment
We might cease to dream
Of flowers
And mountaintops*

do you know...

that you are graduating into one of the most promising areas of the nation? A recent urban research study forecasts "a linear city" for the 300 miles stretching through the industrial Carolinas. Here, in the 20,000 square miles served by Duke Power, scores of thriving towns connect busy cities. Research centers, colleges and universities, and hundreds of industries thrive.

Here in the Carolinas Crescent, there is real challenge and opportunity. There is a place for you to fill, a job for you to do, in an exciting future that begins—right now.

Our passions

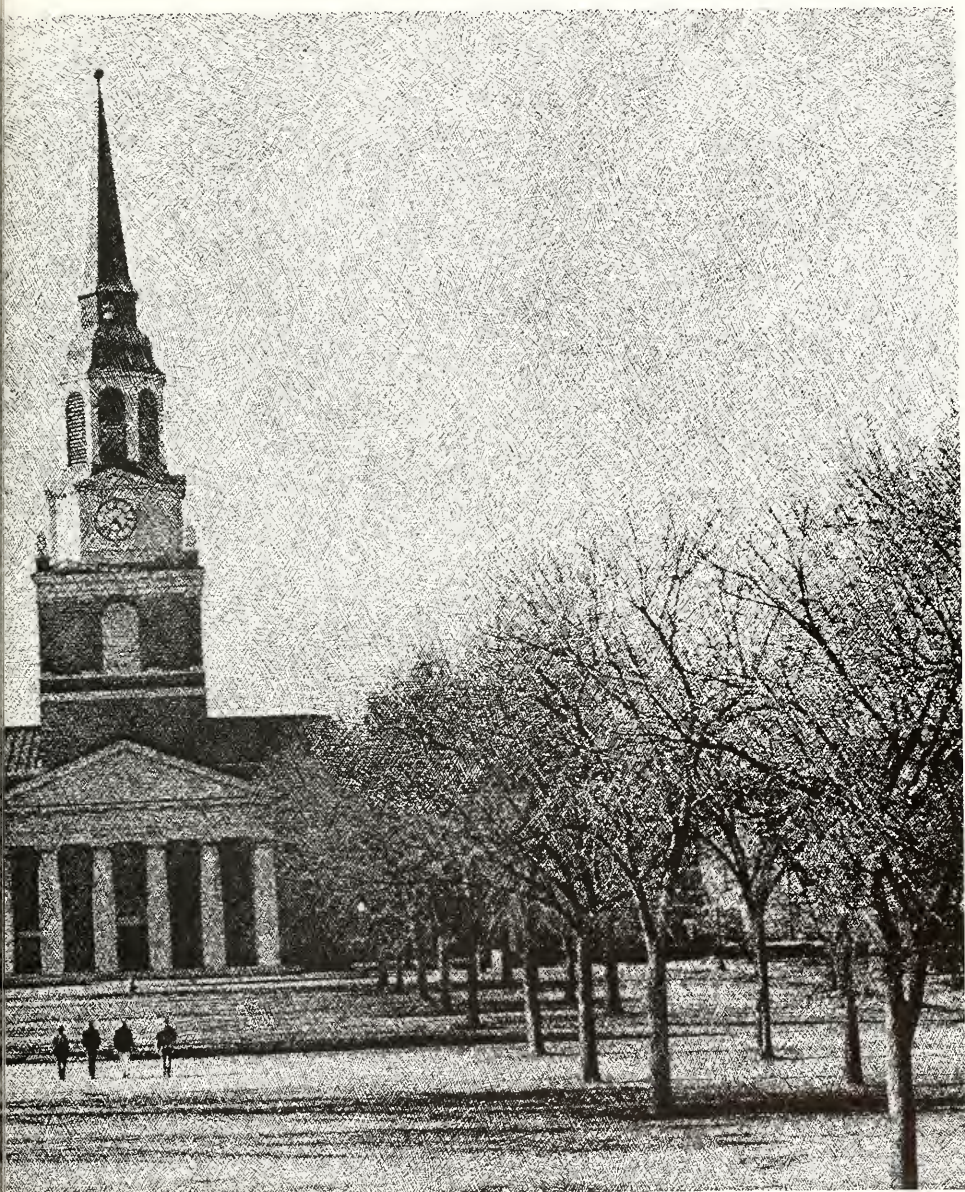

Our quiet moments

Our victories

Our defeats

*A permanent etching
Upon our consciousness
Of four long winters
And four brief springs*

Farewell to you and the youth I have spent with you.

It was but yesterday we met in a dream.

You have sung to me in my aloneness, and I of your longings have built a tower in the sky.

But now our sleep has fled and our dream is over, and it is no longer dawn.

The noontide is upon us and our half waking has turned to fuller day, and we must part.

If in the twilight of memory we should meet once more, we shall speak again together and you shall sing to me a deeper song.

And if our hands should meet in another dream, we shall build another tower in the sky.
